

The Decisions, Decisions poster series was installed throughout 2 gallery spaces, these paper posters exist to be voted on and considered by their audience.

This exhibition runs until June 15th, 2021. Words are Weapons aims to invite participation into the ways in which we can think about the impact of language that stigmatizes and shames.

Soon, visitors can respond to the statements in the poster series Decisions, Decisions – whose text is often ambiguous or unsettled, and designed to encourage a plurality of understandings. The poster series also interjects other logics and potentials by encouraging participation based on either agreement, disagreement, or ambivalence.

Images:

Installation of Justin Langlois' artwork Decisions, Decisions participatory poster series

We printed Empathetic Glossary to the size of our wall! Our Art Preparator, Rob Swanston painted it black for us before meticulously setting these white vinyl letters.

This exhibition runs until June 15th, 2021. Words are Weapons aims to invite participation into the ways in which we can think about the impact of language that stigmatizes and shames.

Soon, visitors can respond to the statements in the poster series Decisions, Decisions – whose text is often ambiguous or unsettled, and designed to encourage a plurality of understandings. The poster series also interjects other logics and potentials by encouraging participation based on either agreement, disagreement, or ambivalence.

Images:

Installation of Justin Langlois' artwork Empathetic Glossary

We wanted to make sure this tearaway poster series invited participation, and could be handled easily. With some last-minute planning, we created an angled shelf, these posters can now easily be torn away and kept by visitors!

This exhibition runs until June 15th, 2021. Words are Weapons aims to invite participation into the ways in which we can think about the impact of language that stigmatizes and shames.

Soon, visitors can respond to the statements in the poster series Decisions, Decisions – whose text is often ambiguous or unsettled, and designed to encourage a plurality of understandings. The poster series also interjects other logics and potentials by encouraging participation based on either agreement, disagreement, or ambivalence.

Image:

The planning and installing of the tearaway poster series